Minutes

Chris talked to the chief editor of the Journal where we submitted the paper on the new filter concept. The editor is quite happy and he is willing to publish the paper. Chris is finalizing the answer.

The ship is far from the UDS shore. It has some delay in the trip schedule. It is expected around 20th of January.

The preparation of the experimental area is going on. The fences will be installed in a couple of weeks.

The container equipped as light lab will be made available in the next days.

Good news from the theorists. The physics paper will be circulated in the next week to the collaboration to collect comments and send it to the Journal.

Let's meet on 23rd.
